Friday Feeling

#004

Friday 24 September

The nature of our context means that we often have to say goodbye to friends and colleagues. This week we say bon voyage to Kat Desmond, who has been a tremendous addition to the team for two years. Her support of the early years has been much appreciated, as has her regular donations of morale boosting donuts. We all wish you the very best in the future – good luck.

Our pastoral team worked with Y4 pupils earlier in the week to help promote the station's Health and Resilience day. They confidently shared information about our colour monsters and pastoral support with the visitors. The children were brilliant at explaining the display of healthy food and snacks and challenged visitors to a sorting game.

On Wednesday, we had the pleasure and privilege of hosting a section of the Waterloo Band and the Band of the Rifles. They gave us a very entertaining presentation as well as teaching the children about aspects of music and musical instruments. Thank you, Miss Flynn, for liaising with the band and organising such an impressive visit.

Finally, we have had reviewed our internal environment and decided to implement a programme of change so that the beautiful outdoor environment is reflected indoors too. The first area to benefit from a re-fresh and redesign was the area between the two Y6 classrooms, and next on the agenda is the Y4 corridor. If you would like to get involved and you have a special talent in terms of interior design, or indeed a bucket load of enthusiasm, we'd love to hear from you!

Have a wonderful weekend,

Ben Turner
Headmaster
